Showing or hiding top level pages

To employ Scroll Versions enhanced content reuse, you should create an include library. In this include library, you create a page for every block of content you plan to reuse in other pages. The include library is stored on the same level as the Homepage of your documentation, but it is not visible to Wiki-Users. Per default the top-level pages are not displayed in the pagetree.

To show or hide Top-level pages:

- Open your Scroll Versions user settings and select the check box Show Top-level pages.
